Sellafield Ltd and Tokyo Electric Power Company Holdings cooperate outreach of communications

Announce “White paper” for joint exercise

Start “Fukushima – West Cumbria Study” with the theme for communication engagement

Sellafield Ltd (Hereafter SL) and Tokyo Electric Power Company Holdings, Inc. (Hereafter TEPCO Holdings) delivered a “White Paper” which includes cooperation plans on the communications side to support the decommissioning mission of each company. This “White paper” is based on support of the Co-operation Agreement in decommissioning between both companies on September 29, 2014.

Since SL has developed a strong relationship with West Cumbria in its sixty years of experience and TEPCO Holdings has improved communications following the Nuclear Safety Reform Plan with the Fukushima community, both companies share these practices to contribute to their decommissioning missions.

Phil Hallington, Head of Policy, SL said, “Very soon it will be two years since we signed the cooperation agreement between SL and TEPCO Holdings. It is immensely important for SL and TEPCO Holdings to have a cooperative relationship, one as an operator to operator, for decommissioning at both Sellafield and Fukushima. Benefits we are seeing at SL is giving us insight for delivering risks and hazard reduction sooner.”

Naohiro Masuda, Chief Decommissioning Officer of Fukushima Daiichi Decontamination and Decommissioning Company said, “TEPCO Holdings proceeds with decommissioning steadily putting safety on top priority with support and cooperation from both domestic and international organizations, to fulfill its responsibility to the Fukushima community.”

TEPCO Holdings shows “1F-Map”, which used GIS technology (GIS: Geographic Information System), at the Decommissioning Technology Exhibition Area held along with the 1st International Forum on the Decommissioning of the Fukushima Daiichi Nuclear Power Station (April 10 and 11, 2016). This is the outcome of the project originated from the above mentioned Co-operation Agreement.
